VA Quality Scholars Summer Institute 2016

Theme: Innovations to improve access and healthcare quality

The VA Quality Scholars (VAQS) Program is an interprofessional postdoctoral research fellowship to train health care clinicians in the principles and methods of health care quality improvement and patient safety. Fellows are physicians, psychologists, and doctorally-prepared pharmacists and nurses at 9 sites throughout North America (Los Angeles, San Francisco, Iowa City, Nashville, Birmingham, Cleveland, Atlanta, White River Junction, VT and Toronto, Canada). Each site is led by a senior physician and nurse faculty scholar. Faculty and fellows gather for a one-week conference every summer (Summer Institute) to learn about innovative quality improvement programs and present their research. For 2016, the VAQS Summer Institute will be in Houston at the Texas Medical Center and affiliated institutions.
